At the regular meeting of the Zion Chapel Vocational Club last week, a study of vegetable cookery was continued. The place of carrots in the diet was studied and breaded carrots were prepared. Most of the class meetings have been devoted to the study of planning meals, using the foods we have at home. A study of vitamins has convinced us of the importance of saving all food value possible.

Is there any cheaper way to make sales than by advertising?

If so, the people who pay for advertising today would like to know what it is.

After all, they are experts at bringing down costs. And that's what brings down prices.

The best proof that advertising is the cheapest way to find customers isso many people use it successfully.

A Message of Vital Importance

To All Buyers of DDINTINC

Business as usual for producers and buyers of printing is definitely a thing of the past. Paper which has risen in price, isn't always easy to get. Metals for type and p rinting plates are on the priority lists. Most of the plants which manufacture printing machinery are now playing a vital part in the program of armaments. Many a good compositor, or pressman has a new job at $21 a month!

It isn't always possible for printing service—particularly time schedules—to be what they used to be.

The cost of finished work has risen—but not out of proportion to the vastly increased value of the printed word to sell, explain or educate in these days of emergency.

We don't know whether prices are going to be frozen at existing levels or go higher. It seems certain that printing won't be any cheaper tomorrow than it is today.

We don't know what further restrictions may be imposed on printing supplies. It also seems certain that good printing won't be more easily or more quickly obtainable tomorrow than it is today.

We believe—and state in a spirit of service rather than salesmanship—that it would be a good thing for every user of printing to check his inventory of printed business helps today—and place his orders now to avoid shortages.
